New Session – New Beginnings

Education without values is like a flower without fragrance

There are only two lasting bequests we can hope to give our children. One of these is roots, the other, wings. Together as facilitators and mentors we can impart an education that not only enable our children to make a living but also teaches them how to live.

What we put in our children's minds today is what they are going to put back into the world tomorrow. With this underlined thought, it is imperative that we endeavour to empower children with not just knowledge and skills but right values and attitude to survive and thrive in the world and become an asset to the society. Values aim at training the student to face the outer world with the right attitude and morals.

Values are inseparable from the life of an individual and human development cannot be conceived in absence of values. The aim of education is growth or development of the entire being in a holistic manner. So therefore, apart from preparing the children to qualify for purely academic demands, special effort is being made continuously by us to enable our little ones to face the challenges of the competitive world! It is a matter of great importance to us that the students who pass out from our portal carry forward the values they have inherited, excel in whatever they do and be role models in the society.

We continue to strive to be a school focused on educational equity and find unique and innovative ways to partner- support and create opportunities that make our school a place where all children enjoy learning, develop strong relationships and continue to grow each day socially, morally, emotionally and academically.

Happy Reading!

Students carry the baton for Climate Action

The students of Grade Nursery to V observed Global Schools Action Day on 3rd November 2022 by organising a Climate Relay Race on school grounds. All students and teachers ran a distance of 227.9 km to enthusiastically support the international campaign, "Running out of Time" - Climate Relay Race which is being run across 18 countries in association with Foundation for Environment Education (FEE)

The students were engaged in designing and creating the Baton and the message to carry with it to show their support and collaborative demand for better climate education and an inclusive world. Students, teachers and parents also supported the Baton Message online, which is a reflection of their spirit and determination to make a positive change.

Sneak Peek of the Month

Students at LPW ink their thoughts for Climate Action. To ignite the fire of imagination and creativity in the students, LPW organised a poster making competition on the theme Heal the Earth. It was a wonderful platform to sensitize students about environment conservation and teach them how to contribute towards the well-being of the earth. Students through their posters presented creative solutions to restore and protect environment.

"If you talk to a man in a language he understands, that goes to his head. If you talk to him in his language it goes to his heart."

- Nelson Mandela

To mark the importance of linguistic diversity which is essential for sustainable development. LPW organised a Speaking Skill Activity named "Meri Bhasha Mera Abhiman" In order to welcome various languages in the classroom and to acknowledge that multilingualism is a global norm. So, that children feel their home language is being respected and it also provides an insight into others cultures. Moreover, it strengthens connections between school and home.

International Handwashing Day

Washing your hands properly is the most effective way of preventing illness and the spreading of germs. International Handwashing Day is all about educating others on the importance of hand washing and promoting good hand hygiene amongst all. In the current context of Covid-19, the importance of frequent hand washing with soap or using alcohol-based sanitizers, has been globally realized as one of the basic COVID-19 prevention measures.

To raise awareness on the importance of handwashing for children's health and education, Students at LPW celebrated International Handwashing Day on 15th October with great enthusiasm. Students were educated about personal hygiene and cleanliness through virtual discussions. Exciting and fun activities, enabled them to be active and generated their own insights about washing issues. A handwashing activity was organized for the little ones as well. Teachers explained the do's and don'ts of hand hygiene. Students were taught the steps of washing hands and to keep themselves healthy by cleaning hands regularly. Tiny tots were motivated to wash their hands before and after having their meals as dirty hands were the root cause of various diseases.
