Message from the Incharge

Dear Parents

Greetings!!

It is a known fact, that the world of education is the world of books – and this year, there's one book that stands above the rest! A bestseller, no less! The book tells a story… one never been told before… a story written by students and teachers the world over… and they call it "A WALTZ WITH TECHNOLOGY – the world of home schooling".

And what better way to close this academic year than by congratulating the authors of this book!! Well done, my teachers and students. This year, you have made the unthinkable, possible – with your bold and daring steps into the unknown.

When I began this academic year addressing you all, with a hope that we may see good times returning soon, little did we comprehend the depth of our situation. Inspite of the year being one of continuous and drastic changes, my teachers and students took life in their stride, accepted the rain along with the sunshine, seized the circumstances, polished new required expertise, ventured forward and welcomed the challenge to never stop evolving and have dedicatedly continued the learning journey. This year has seen diverse teaching skills and what's truly admirable is the drive, passion and determination of you all. The effort invested in everything is truly commendable and appreciated. We have together ensured smooth execution of the school year and tried to make this academic year as normal as possible by flowing through our planned calendar for the year, conducting various programmes, competitions, activities, etc.

I would like to place on record my deepest gratitude for:
· Dear teachers – for your 'never say die' attitude… and personally, I am totally indebted, and absolutely fortunate, proud and honoured to be working with such a great team of educators.
· Dear students – for teaming up with your teachers to make education possible for you this year.
· Dear parents and guardians – for being the super support that was needed from you. You have stepped in and adjusted schedules and made proper arrangements, so that your children did not lose out on an important educative year.

I officially close this year by saying – Throughout this year, we have been there for each other, stood by each other through all ups and downs. We can pat our backs on a responsibility carried out with faithfulness and sincerity. Kudos to us.

I pray for the good health of you and your family. Adieu till we meet again in our next academic year 2022-2023.

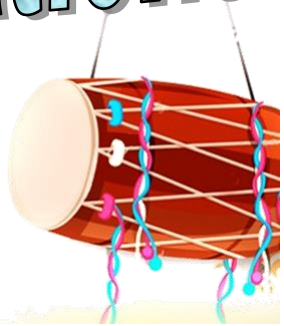

Warm Regards

Sarika Srivastava
